

On the 12th Day of Christmas

By: Maurice D. Lynch

Log Line: A teenage bully crashes with reality when he goes on three unexpected journeys in one night.

Eric Bradshaw is a bitter teenager when it comes to the holiday season. The popular “IN” crowd jock takes out his frustration by torturing the school nerd, Tegan Winbigler, everyday. From dunking his head in diarrhea, hitting him with snowballs and taking his precious watch, Eric thrives on making Tegan's high school experience unbearable.

On December 12th Eric wakes up to what he wishes was a dream. Eric relives the moment where he lost his Christmas spirit. Throughout the rest of this humorous and somewhat touching day, reality hits. His friends aren't what they seem and he and his family are headed for a disastrous future. At the end of this emotional journey Eric's heart could either remain calloused or changed forever.
